Full job description

Your new company

This is a rare and exciting opportunity to join a growing consultancy who deliver high profile and complex procurements through new concept ideas and innovative solutions.

Your new role

Your role will be to work with their Federal & State Government clients in understanding the requirement and identifying new and innovative ways to deliver their projects in line with government procurement legislation.

You will deliver procurement, strategic sourcing and tendering projects, manage contracts, achieve commercial outcomes, identify and manage risk and negotiate value for money for both government and the suppliers.

What you'll need to succeed

You will bring relevant experience either consulting to or working in a government procurement role, with complex tendering or strategic sourcing experience across ICT, Defence or in the establishment of whole of government contracts

What you'll get in return

This organisation really value their people through career development programs, health and wellbeing support, flexible working arrangements, team building and social functions in addition to the opportunity to work with like minded progressive subject matter experts in this field.
